EINSTEIN SAYS time and distance are not as we understand them. Others believe both exist only in the mind. Time and distance certainly influence man and his emotions. Reading that flood or plague has killed ten thousand in China, you murmur "Too bad" and pass on.

You see one child crushed under an automobile, and the horror never leaves you. It happened near you.

CARTER DIGS out old Tut-Ankh-Amen, moving his mummy and jewels to the museum, and you say "Quite correct, just the place for old Pharoah." But when Bolshevikt open the tombs of the Romanoff rulers, some recently dead, removing from royal corpses $1,000,000 worth of jewels and gold ornaments, you mutter, "What ghouls."

You can offer no better reason for robbing a dead Pharoah than for robbing a dead Romanoff. But time and distance make all the difference.

PROFESSOR DIBBLE of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, says it will soon be possible to broadcast heat waves as we broadcast sound waves.

Imagine burning coal at the mine, oil at the well, or burning in far off forests giant piles of dead wood and "slash" that now go to waste, and "broadcasting" the heat to millions of houses.

EQUALLY IMPORTANT is a serious scientist's statement that icebergs now floating down from the North, menacing navigation, causing icy currents that lower temperature, can be destroyed at their source.

WHEN MEN shall have made power as plentiful as water and air, by harnessing tides or the sun, human control of this earth will be absolute.

SOME SENATORS are changing their attitude on the World Court, and joining those that would keep the United States out of it.

Senator Williams of Missouri says that entering the World Court, would force the United States to enter the League of Nations, and share its responsibilities. That is the truth.

WILL PRESIDENT COOLidge decide, first among Presidents, to support the theory that the United States is not big enough to manage itself without help or advice from Europe?

When Washington was President, this nation's population was about half the population of New York City now. Washington thought his country would manage itself, and advised it to keep out of European entanglements.

MR. COOLIDGE has 115,000,000 Americans back of him. It can hardly seem to him necessary to take a nation of that size across the ocean before a European court, or subordinate it to the decisions of a European League of Nations especially with the court and the European nations overwhelmingly hostile to the people of the United States.

BARE BUTTERFLY LIFE AS CHIROPRACTOR PINS HER DEATH ON SUICIDE

Philadelphia, Jan. 25 (A.P.).—David L. Marshall, a chiropractor, confessed today that he had dismembered the body of Anna May Dietrich. Sobbing and unnerved, Marshall denied he had murdered the 35-year-old Norwood milliner, declaring she had taken poison in his Philadelphia office because she had been jilted by a wealthy New York man.

A desire to be a modern girl may have led to Miss Dietrich's death. Friends with whom she conversed only a few days before she was last seen, said today she told them she was tired of being a "wallflower" and was going to "step out."

"From now on," she is reported to have said, "I am going to be a modern girl. I am going to learn all the latest steps, so that when I go anywhere, I will know how to dance. I'm tired of being behind the times."

Half an hour before he broke down and confessed Marshall had sent over and looked straight into the disfigured face of the woman, in the Media Morgue, and said: "I wish she could speak—she would tell you that I am guiltless."

The confession, made in the office of District Attorney William Taylor at Media, came in tumbling, frantic words after the chiropractor had been cross-examined for four hours.

He was taken to Media from his home in Bywood Heights, which overlooks the ravine where the young woman's head was found wedged under a railroad trestle Sun-

HURL BRICKS TO BURN MILLS IN BIDDEFORD

Biddeford, Me., Jan. 25 (A.P.).—An attempt was made to burn the Pepperell Mills, the police believe, by throwing bricks wrapped with cotton saturated with oil through two windows in different parts of the plant. The company has had labor troubles since December 1.

The discovery was made during the night by watchmen making their rounds. Their attention was attracted by drafts of cold air. Near the broken windows, within the mill, were bricks wrapped with oil-soaked cotton. The cotton was charred.

Weavers of the rapperell Mills, employing 3500 workers, walked out on December 1, last, in protest against the introduction of a system under which they would be required to operate additional looms.

The mills were re-opened on January 4. Employes in departments other than the weaving rooms returned to work.

Claim was made by the company's representatives today that 300 additional looms had been placed in operation over the weekend bringing the total now running to 2000.

SINKING SHIP VANISHES IN GALE AFTER S O S

New York, Jan. 25 (A.P.).—The liner President Roosevelt wireless to the United States lines today that she had lost trace of the British freighter Antinoe, after answering an SOS call from her yesterday in mid-Atlantic. All of the freighter's boats were gone, water was in the fire room and her radio was out of commission.

The wireless message from Captain George Fried of the President Roosevelt said:

"Picked up SOS from steamer Antinoe. Proceeded and arrived noon, Sunday. Weather foggy, heavy snow, westerly gales, rough seas. Remained alongside until 9 a. m., when last trace of her in heavy snow squall. Am still in vicinity searching for her.

"Antinoe's No. 3 hatch stove in. All boats gone. Water in fire room. Radio out of commission."

The Antinoe carries a crew of forty.

MARY, MARY QUITE CONTRARY IN HUB

Mary Garden, prima donna of the Chicago Opera Company, got into Boston like a cyclone today. She "bawled out" Clark Shaw, tour manager, while crowds stood amazed in the Copley-Plaza. She had been billed to open her Boston engagement in a matinee, and she threatened to quit on the spot.

MARY GARDEN IN HUFF ON VERGE OF QUITTING

Blowing into Boston like a tempest from the West, Mary Garden, colorful American prima donna of the Chicago Opera Company, gave Clark Shaw, the company's tour manager, a sulphuric "bawling out" in the lobby of the Copley-Plaza today and threatened to quit on the spot unless given redress for a horrible slight on her international fame.

Hotel guests, clerks, bellboys and singers of the opera troupe stood helplessly by in horrified silence as Mary verbally smoked and walloped Shaw, wrung him out and hung him out to dry.

She strode into the hotel, sleek in

SLAIN DIVORCEE'S ALLEGED SUITOR AND THREE LODGERS HELD

A strange and deadly instrument of murder, a glass stiletto with needle-like blade, was used to kill Mrs. Clara Rosen, known also as Clara DeCosta, found dead on a couch in her Prescott street, East Boston, home, the police believe.

Four men are held on suspicion in connection with the crime, whose peculiar angles form a different tangle for the investigators to unsnarl.

Over her right eye was found a tiny wound, one of such character that detectives familiar with all methods of slayers, are almost convinced that it was made by a glass stiletto.

If this is so, the needle-like blade of the stiletto will be found in the woman's head, broken off beneath the skin and leaving only a faint scar.

The men held as suspicious persons are Gustave de Costa, the dead woman's alleged suitor; Peter Hanson, William Flynn and Francis Beaumont. All are lodgers in the woman's home.

Mrs. Rosen's body was found at churchtime by Beaumont, who had gone to her kitchen-bedroom to ask why she had failed in her Sunday morning custom of calling him for church at 10 o'clock.

The door of Mrs. Rosen's room was closed but not locked and the rooms did not appear to be disordered.

SENATE VOTES TO GAG WORLD COURT DEBATE

Washington, Jan. 25.—American adherence to the World Court, around which is pivoting a fight as bitter as the memorable League of Nations struggle, was brought a step closer this afternoon, when the Senate upset a cherished tradition and imposed cloture upon itself for the second time in its history.

The restriction of debate presages a final vote on American adherence within a week, and the vote by which this was accomplished this afternoon left little doubt as to the ultimate outcome.

The vote was 66 to 26 and the members voted as follows:

For cloture:

Republicans: Bingham, Butler of Massachusetts, Capper, Couzens, Cummins, Curtis, Deneen, Edge, Ernst, Fess, Gillett of Massachusetts, Goff, Gooding, Green, Hale, Jones of Washington, Keyes, Lenroot, McKinley, McLean, McMaster, McNary, Metcalf, Norbeck, Oddie, Pepper, Phipps, Reed of Pennsylvania, Sackett, G. Schall, Sherman, Smoot, Stanfield, Wadsworth, Warren, Weller and Willis—37.

Democrats: Ashhurst, Bayard, Bratton, Bruce, Caraway, Edwards, Fletcher, Frazier, George, Gerry, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Heflin, Jones of New Mexico, Kendrick, King, McKellar, Mayfield, Neely, Overman, Pittman, Ransdall, Robinson of Arkansas, Sheppard, Simmons, Swanson, Trammell, Tyson, Underwood and Walsh—21.

Against cloture:

Republicans—Borah, Brookhart, Cameron, Dale of Vermont, Fernald of Maine, Frazier, Harreld, Howell, Johnson, La Follette, Means, Moses of New Hampshire, Norris, Nye, Odge, Robinson of Indiana, Watson and Williams—13.

Democrats—Blease, Broussard, Dill, Reed of Missouri, Smith, Stephens and Wheeler—7.

Two Senators were absent, Du Pont of Delaware, who is ill, and Copeland of New York. Du Pont would have voted for cloture.

2 ARLINGTON FIREMEN HURT; 40 FLEE BLAZE

Two firemen were injured and forty persons were driven to the street early today when a general alarm was sounded for a fire which destroyed Crescent Hall, and a block of stores and residences at No. 1313-1321 Massachusetts avenue, Arlington Heights.

Fire officials estimated the loss at $75,000.

The general alarm brought apparatus from Belmont, Cambridge, Lexington and Medford, and for more than three hours the combined efforts of the several departments fought the blaze and protected nearby property by an occasional wetting down when flying embers were carried by the wind.

The fire was discovered when smoke was noticed coming from Crescent Hall shortly after the guests

ARMY OF ORATORS TO ASSIST IN 'OLD IRONSIDES' CAMPAIGN

PATRIOTIC SCHOOL DRIVE

In no other city in the United States will the children of the schools be informed, enthused and entertained by so many able and eloquent orators, in connection with the "Old Ironsides" program of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, as will be heard sometime within the next month in the schools of Boston.

With more than 7,000 members, Boston Lodge No. 10 is the third largest organization of Elks in the country, and Chairman James H. Flanagan, of the "Save Old Ironsides" committee, is to have his pick of them. Such is the command of Exalted Ruler Daniel J. Kane.

On the list is the present Mayor of Boston, the Hon. Malcolm E. Nichols, his immediate predecessor, the Hon. James M. Curley; Mr. Curley's predecessor, the Hon. Andrew J. Peters, and former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald.

Another oratorical Elk, for whom several schools are likely to put in their bids, is former Governor Channing H. Cox.

CONGRESSMEN AVAILABLE.

Congressman George Holden Tinkham and Congressman James A. Gallivan are prominent members of the antlered organization, as are former Congressmen Peter F. Tague, William S. McNary, Joseph F. O'Connell and John A. Sullivan. Representative Elijah Adlow of Roxbury, the majority leader on Beacon Hill, talked of, by the ways as likely to be the next Republican candidate for Attorney General, stands high up on Chairman Flanagan's list of "Old Ironsides" speakers, as do Mark Love, former Senator Richard S. Teeling, Gaspar G. Bacon, Alexander Whitcomb, the Hon. John B. Moynihan, Samuel Howard Mildram and Robert J. Bottomley, formerly active in the Good Government Association, but now adays plunging away industriously at the law.

On the militant side, Mr. Flanagan is free to call upon such conspicuous World War figures as Gen. Charles H. Cole, Gen. Edward L. Logan and Gen. John H. Dunn, all Elks.

Mark Mulvey, who as custodian of the schoolhouses, will be called in tonight when the School Committee formally accepts the Elks' offer of cooperation in behalf of the ancient frigate, is another well known member of the B. P. O. E.s. So is former District Attorney Dehon Hill, Samuel Howard Mildram, who has been telling politicians a lot they should know about telephones, is on the roster, too.

WEALTH OF ORATORS.

Chairman Flanagan has merely begun to list them, as set, but at the Elks Club in Somerset street it is deemed likely that he will call upon these men:

Former Lieutenant-Governor Edward P. Barry, James H. Brennan, Bartholomew Brickley, Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, Thomas Brogan, George J. Brophy, Hon. Frank Brown, George R. Carmichael, Edward D. Collins, Governor's Counsel Joseph Connolly, Michael F. Collins, John F. Cronin, George E. Cronin, Capt. John A. Daly, Joseph A. 16 Posts, John A. D'Arcy, Jr., John J. Donovan, Arthur Duffy, Michael L. Fahey, Hon. Henry F. Fitzgerald, Francis J. Gallagher, Joseph A. Gallagher, Judge Thomas H. Hood, W. A. Fitzgerald, George A. Gilman, Theodore A. Glynn, Representative Martin Hays, Harold Jacobs, Col. Thomas F. Kelley, Joseph M. Carroll, John H. Casey, John F. Cusick, Timothy Thomas F. Cunningham, Governor's Counsel Edward D. Collins, Joseph A. Connolly, Michael F. Sullivan, John F. Cronin, George E. Cronin, Capt. John A. Daly, Joseph A. 16 Posts, John A. D'Arcy, Jr., John J. Donovan, Arthur Duffy, Michael L. Fahey, Hon. Henry F. Fitzgerald, Francis J. Gallagher, Joseph A. Gallagher, Judge Thomas H. Hood, W. A. Fitzgerald, George A. Gilman, Theodore A. Glynn, Representative Martin Hays, Harold Jacobs, Col. Thomas F. Kelley, Joseph M. Carroll, John H. Casey, John F. Cusick, Timothy Thomas F. Cunningham, Paul F. Prendergast, George Howe, Victor Myers, Dr. Daniel Coakley, Leslie R. Hook and Charles H. Burrill.

SUBJECT TO DRAFT.

Scarcely a name upon the list but is as well-known to the average Bostonian who reads the newspapers as the names of the down-town streets. Others who will be subject to Chairman Flanagan's draft include:

Daniel J. Kiley, Thomas D. Lavelle, City Messenger Edward J. Leary, Joseph F. Lemasney, Joseph F. Lyons, Daniel V. Magner, Edward F. McLaughlin, Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, David Manoogian, John J. Martin, Lowell Mayberry, David F. Montague, Victor J. Morris of the Orpheum, Zeke D. Mullen, Thomas A. Mullen, Joseph A. Peretti, William C. Prout and Hale Sawyer.

Philip Patrick A. Sennott, Thomas Conrad Shelley, Fred M. L. Shenard, Edward E. Sullivan, Joseph Sacchetti, John Jackson Walsh and V. C. Bruce Witmore.

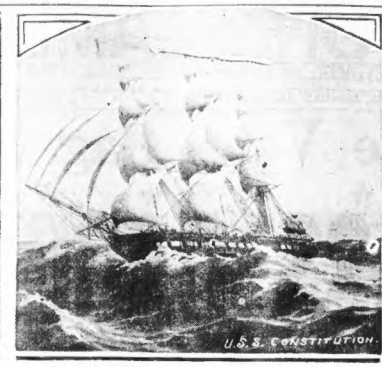
These are merely "sounds" of the brother Elks Attorney Flanagan must have in mind when word comes tonight from No. 25 Beacon street that, in accordance with the pledges of last week, the Boston School Committee has voted to let the children of the "Old Ironsides" town do something for the historic fighting-ship, whose name and fame and glory are so inseparably connected with the name and fame and glory of Boston-town.

Filene's Basement advertisement has been on this page almost daily for 16 years. Now, so that this page may be devoted entirely to news, Filene's Basement advertisement will be found almost daily on Page 4.

ELK ORATORS WHO WILL PLEAD FOR FUND FOR RESTORATION OF CONSTITUTION

Congressman George Holden Tinkham will appear before Hub School children to plead for the preservation of America's naval shrine.

Former City Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan, one of the most brilliant members of the Elks, will aid and abet this patriotic endeavor by his great eloquence and persuasive personality.



The grand old frigate Constitution, eagle of the sea, built in Boston, sailing from Boston to win imperishable glory for the infant American Navy, now lies rotting at her wharf at the Charlestown Navy Yard. School children of the city are asked to raise part of the $500,000 required to restore her.

Richard S. Teeling may be drafted by the Boston Lodge of Elks working with the national organization sponsoring the cause to add his eloquence to the drive that is to be soon made.

General Edward L. Logan, whose eloquence and fighting spirit are well known in Boston, will also assist in the great patriotic movement and that children will respond in a natural conclusion.

CONFESSES HE HACKED OFF GIRL'S HEAD

day and where yesterday searchers came upon sequins of the clothing she had bought last Tuesday. On day she disappeared, to wear to a dance the next night.

Marshall also answered several questions, in the District Attorney's office, in his own home, in his Philadelphia office and by the side of the mutilated body in the morgue, denying his guilt, and had been left alone with District Attorney Taylor before he broke down.

"I FOUND HER DYING."

"Mr. Taylor," he began suddenly, after a tense silence of five minutes, "I want you to promise me one thing—that you will be nice to my wife and child." Then there was another pause.

"I did it," he cried suddenly. "I don't know why I did it—I was frantic with fear."

Then he began the brief story of the woman's death and the dismemberment and disposition of her body.

"I met the girl Tuesday night outside my office on 12th street, in Philadelphia," he began. "She said she did not feel very well. I proposed that she go up to my office—I told her the door was unlocked—and lie down. I said I was going out to get something to eat.

"I was gone about an hour. When I came back I went to my office, but I did not see Miss Dietrich. She was in the bathroom. I tried the door after I had waited a while, but it was fastened.

FORGETS HER HEAD.

"I sat down and read for ten or fifteen minutes. Then I knocked on the door of the bathroom, and when she did not answer I pushed in the door, which was fastened with a latch.

"I found Miss Dietrich on the floor in a heap, unconscious. I picked her up and carried her to the operating table in my office. I tried to revive her, but could not. I worked on her until she died.

"Then I became frightened and panicky. I didn't know what to do. I have a wife and child and I feared I would be blamed for her death.

"I kept the body all that night in my office. Early next morning I came back and then I cut off its head and legs with hacksaw and a knife. I destroyed the knife. (The hacksaw was found in a bloodstained closet in the chiropractor's office several days before he confessed.)

"On Wednesday night I distributed the body. I forgot the head, having left it in my office, when I took away the body and legs.

"I remembered it Thursday morning, and I took a paper that bore the date of September 11, 1924, and wrapped it up and then took it and threw it under the trestle.

"I burned the rug Friday afternoon. I took the rug and the articles that belonged to Miss Dietrich and disposed of them, burning these things Friday."

District Attorney Taylor asked if Miss Dietrich had any reason to end her life.

"She told me she had taken poison," said Marshall. "She had a love affair with one of the big fellows in New York, and being a poor girl who went to work every day he threw her down. That broke her heart."

"Riding with her in my car last Monday, when I took her home," he said, "she told me she might as well be dead. I tried my best to encourage her and get the thing off her mind."

Marshall's confession was the climax of a series of dramatic incidents.

Greely Doubts Cook or Peary Reached Pole

Washington, Jan. 25 (A.P.).—Brigadier-General Adolphus W. Greely, American meteorologist and Arctic explorer, entered the revived North Pole discovery controversy today with a statement that he was convinced that neither Dr. Frederick A. Cook nor Admiral Robert E. Peary actually reached the Pole. Greely commanded in 1881, the American Arctic expedition which formed a circumpolar chain of scientific stations for meteorological observations.

room in Waverley, told police he was the first of three lodgers to arrive home Saturday night. He said he got there at 11:45. He gave the police their first clue when he said that as he passed the kitchen door he heard Mrs. Rosen exclaim: "Oh—you're—hurting—me!"

The only entrance to the kitchen from the hall in which Ranson stood was through the bathroom, he said. He tried that door but it was locked. He said he then went upstairs to his bedroom, prepared to go to bed and was undressing when young Flynn arrived. Beaumont came in a few moments later.

Flynn, whose room is directly over the kitchen, told police he smelled heavy cigarette smoke which seeped through a ventilator connecting the kitchen and his room. He said he heard sounds from the kitchen that resembled paper being rubbed over the kitchen floor.

"I called down the ventilator and asked Mrs. Rosen to open the kitchen door for ventilation," Flynn said. "I got no answer, then turned in to bed. Shortly afterward I heard the inner door and then the outer door closed, as though some one were leaving the house."

Police learned that Mrs. Rosen's husband, William, separated from her about seven years ago, now is remarried and living in New Harbor, Me.

De Costa was arrested as he was about to enter his rooming house on West Eagle street. He protested he had arrived home shortly after 11 o'clock Saturday night but his landlady contradicted his story, stating he had not come home until 3 A. M. Sunday.

of a wedding banquet had departed. The rear of the hall had been practically burned out when the fire apparatus reached the scene of the blaze.

Mr. and Mrs. George English, for whom the reception was given, were among those driven from the hall.

Hoseman Frank Hargrove of Arlington's Central Fire Station was struck on the head by a falling beam during the height of the fire, but after treatment, was sent to the fire station, where he is resting comfortably.

Four Blazes Set in East Boston Tenement

A state Police, local police and the fire department are investigating a fire in the apartment of Dominic Parlentino at No. 34 Sumner street, East Boston, which they believe was incendiary and which threatened the tenement district. Acting District Chief Thomas J. Lannery says he found four separate fires.

One was in the parlor under the piano, another in the same room fifteen feet away, a third in a bedroom, and a fourth in another bedroom. According to Chief Lannery, not one of the fires could have caught from any of the others.

The Flarlentino family denied all knowledge of the blazes. They had been visiting, they said, and could not explain how the fires had been started.

$8,000 Fire in Brookline Block of Stores

Fire, starting, it is believed, from a defective heater pipe in the basement, caused damage estimated at $8,000 today in a block of stores in Washington square, Brookline.

The blaze started in the basement of the Covin Flower Shop at No. 1642A Beacon street, and spread rapidly to the first floor and then to four other stores and offices. The block is one-story high and of brick.

Most of the damage was caused in the flower shop. Among the places burned were the real estate office of David B. Church, the Washington Square Print Shop and a bowling alley.

COURT DEFERS TRIAL OF "HAMMERING HUSBAND"

When Joseph Marchkone of Wall street, West End, appeared in Municipal Court today to answer to a charge of hitting his wife on the head with a hammer, Judge Parmenter decided he was in no condition to stand trial and ordered him held until later. Marchkone was released on bail following his arrest but when he faced court it appeared that he had been drinking and was not able to testify properly.

ful of Senators inherently opposed to cloture opposed restriction of debate.

Outnumbered and outvoted, the "irreconcilables" found solace only in the fact that they have forced the adoption of such drastic reservations as will virtually make the Senate itself and not the president the judge of what shall be submitted to the Court's jurisdiction.

The vote was taken before a monster crowd that jammed the galleries and forced Capitol police to establish lines in the corridors. The occasion was given a dramatic touch by the presence of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the war President, who came to see her husband's great post-war dreams of international peace take a long step nearer realization.

By adopting cloture, the Senate limited each Senator to one hour's debate in all upon not only the resolution of adherence but upon six reservations and amendments as well. As most of the pro-court Senators will not utilize their full time and there are only sixteen irreconcilables the final vote probably will come within thirty hours of debate—some time next Saturday or Monday.

MRS. WILSON HEARS SENATE DEBATE COURT

Washington, Jan. 25 (A.P.).—For the second time within a week, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson today heard the Senate debate the world court. Nearby sat Mrs. Alice Longworth, daughter of Theodore Roosevelt and wife of the Speaker of the House.

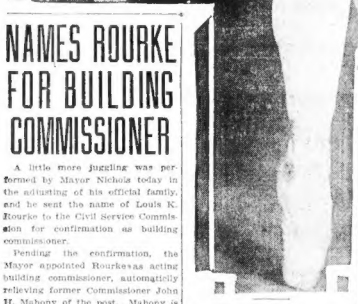
DANCES INTO HEART OF BANKER

Constance Binney, stage and screen star, who will wed Charles E. Cotting, Hub banker. The latter is mum about the romance. No date for the wedding has been set.

"We're just ordinary folk," says her Harvard fiancé, so why the interest in our engagement? The young banker refuses to discuss his marriage plans, but is happy to win the heart of the charming Constance.



"We're just an ordinary couple and I don't see why the public should be interested in our little romance," said Charles E. Cotting, prominent Boston banker, today, discussing his engagement to Constance Binney, famous stage and screen star.

"I'm just a banker," he continued, "and Miss Binney has been in motion pictures only a year, so I can't understand why the public should attach so much importance to that fact."

The young banker, who is connected with many corporations and clubs and as a graduate of Harvard, refused to state when the wedding will take place, or what the plans of the couple are after marriage. He lives with his mother at No. 494 Marlborough street, Back Bay.

NAMES ROURKE FOR BUILDING COMMISSIONER

A little more juggling was performed by Mayor Nichols today in the adjusting of his official family, and he sent the name of Louis K. Rourke to the Civil Service Commission for confirmation as building commissioner.

Pending the confirmation, the Mayor appointed Rourke as acting building commissioner, automatically relieving former Commissioner John H. Mahony of the post. Mahony is chairman of the Schoolhouse Commissioners.

Rourke has been a member of the transit commission since 1922 at a salary of $5,000 a year, but in his new post, if he is confirmed, his salary will be raised $1,000, to $6,000 a year.

Commissioner Mahony relinquished his office in the building department last Summer, following the Pickwick Club disaster, and was confirmed as a schoolhouse commissioner.

The new acting building head was with the city first sixteen years ago. He was the first public works commissioner under the new charter and was appointed by Mayor Fitzgerald in 1910.

Fitzgerald brought Rourke to Boston from the Panama Canal project, where he made considerable of a reputation as an engineer.

When Curley succeeded Fitzgerald as Mayor the engineer was removed from the public works post and went to Peru. Later he returned to Boston and in 1923 was appointed a member of the transit commission by Mayor Curley.

T. R. NEVER LOOKED LIKE THIS!

It is doubtful if Colonel Roosevelt, were he alive, could recognize his sons, Theodore (left) and Kermit as they looked when they emerged from the Himalaya Mountains at Srinagar, Cashmir, India. They hunted up a barber, but first they sent this photograph to Nick Longworth, their brother-in-law, Speaker of the House.

DR. SHALIT IS TRAILED BY DETECTIVES

Portland, Me., Jan. 25.—Harmel White of Boston, father of Mrs. Alice Shalit of Brookline, Mass., was recalled to the stand today in his $250,000 alienation suit against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Annie Shalit, of this city.

Under cross examination by Judge Joseph Connolly, the witness told of a visit made to him by Jacob Berman of Portland, former counsel for Mrs. Annie Shalit in January, 1924, the assisted Berman as saying he wanted to hire detectives to watch Dr. Harold Shalit, son of Husband of Mrs. Alice Shalit. According to White, his visitor said Harold "is a rogood and a woman chaser, he can get them. I have a man with me, a sheriff, who has never failed me."

The witness said he told Berman he was not keen for the plan, but if it was in his daughter's interests to go ahead. He said Berman then hired detectives and part of their report was introduced as evidence.

White also told of a letter from Berman in which he asked if the witness was going to "spare" Dr. Shalit.

Asked if he had instructed Mrs. Josephine Casey of Quincy, who is caring for Dr. and Mrs. Shalit's son, to permit no one to see him, the witness said he had not. A letter was offered from Mrs. Casey to Mrs. Alice Shalit stating a Dr. Shalit had called at her house and asked to see the child but she had refused.

Mrs. Alice Shalit claimed to be from Atlantic, Mass., and said he had no interest in the Portland trial.

The witness stated he daughter had wired him to permit no one to see the child.

The plaintiff's case closed just before recess, when court adjourned until three o'clock because of the funeral of a former court attache.

It was expected Mrs. Annie Shalit would take the witness stand when the trial was resumed.

MILTON FOLK TO FIGHT FOR A ZONING LAW

With the professed purpose of "saving Milton from the sort of thing that has ruined Roxbury and Dorchester," the examiner board of Milton will hold a public meeting at Town Hall tomorrow evening for discussion of the zoning law, which the March town meeting will be asked to accept. The zoning law will restrict the building of two-family houses and require grounds of certain dimensions around every house erected in future. Arthur C. Comey, zoning expert, will speak at the meeting.

THIEF LEAPS THROUGH WINDOW AND ESCAPES

George W. Boulton entered his home on Cabot street, Waltham, just in time to halt the work of a burglar who disappeared through a window as Boulton stepped in. Nothing was stolen. A little later Ralph French reported to the police that his house on Fairmount street, only a stone's throw from the Boulton residence, had been entered and a revolver taken.

SEES HUB'S MUNITION PLANTS

Lesson of Unpreparedness Shall Not Be Repeated, Says Assistant Army Head

From "slices to shrapnel," the United States will be ready in the event of another war.

Such is the aim of Hanford MacNider, Assistant Secretary of War and former national commander of the American Legion, in Boston today for the double mission of furthering industrial preparedness in New England and of inspecting the quartermaster corps, ordnance office and chemical warfare service in this area.

PREPAREDNESS FIRST

Industrial preparedness is the direct task of the Assistant Secretary of War, and of it Mr. MacNider says:

"Our present major effort, industrial mobilization planning, is the direct result of the bitterest lesson we learned in the Great War. We were taught with a vehemence that no nation, no matter how richly blessed with natural resources, facilities for rapid manufacture, expert and willing labor, untold ready funds, can walk until it is suddenly plunged at war to do its thinking and planning for such disastrous emergency."

Mr. MacNider explained that his program calls for an orderly survey of industrial, material, power, labor, transportation and then the allocation of required materials of those facilities best fitted to produce with the least disturbance to the economic structure.

INSPECTS SERVICE

Following ceremonial visits to Governor Fuller and Mayor Nichols, when he chatted with each for a few moments, Mr. MacNider and accompanying officials motored to the Army Base, where they were greeted by commissioners of the 13th Corps Area Service Command.

Inspection of the three branches of the service, the Quartermaster Service, Ordnance and Chemical Warfare Service Chamber of Commerce Building, the Ordnance office, 201 Devonshire street, was followed by a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce with leading manufacturers of New England present.

Following this the assistant secretary spoke before the luncheon of the Women's Republican Club at the Copley-Plaza.

Mr. MacNider was so quick in alighting from the Federal Express at Back Bay Station that he outstripped the reception committee that was on hand to meet him, and encountered the escort of honor on the platform.

Those greeting him were: Major General Preston Brown, commander of the First Corps Area; Col. C. H. Roberts, chief of staff; Howard Coonley, local chemical warfare chief; Col. Charles H. Tenney, Joseph G. Kimball, Robert W. Boydon, Francis J. Good, Gen. John H. Sherburne, Col. Joseph H. Ford, Lt. Col. W. G. Peace, Capt. L. P. Grim, Capt. R. J. Hernandez, Lt. Alden H. Waitt, Lt. Herbert H. Gardner, Col. William E. Horton.

A color guard from E Company of the 13th United States Infantry, stationed at the army base, escorted him to the hotel.

SNOW TONIGHT, BUT WARMER

Another snow storm is due to blanket New England tonight, according to the forecast.

In its train, however, will come a rise in temperature, offsetting the mercury drop of 10 degrees in the past twenty-four hours.

The minimum mercury mark to be reached last night was 15 above and this, too, represented the temperature early today.

The lowest temperature during the night in New England was 12 below at Northfield, Vt., with Greenville, Me., a trifling second at 4 below.

Throughout New England, temperatures are below the normal mark for this date.

Pastor Favors Dance Parties in Churches

Worcester, Jan. 25.—The church should find dancing parties some where within its structure, the Rev. Charles Herbert Rust declared to Plymouth Congregational Church.

"If a dancing party is right in the home, it is right in the church," he said. "There must be a place in the church for the normal life expression of the people of the home."

"If a ball game is right it is right to have it right. If other normal play life is right under church auspices, then we may be sure that simple dancing parties, sensibly chaperoned, are also right."

WIFE-SLASHER'S BAIL $25,000

George Harris, who is charged with slashing his divorced wife, Ida Harris, a teacher in the Eastern Point School, after an argument in the school Saturday over their divorce, Oandia, was held for the grand jury today by Judge Murray in Municipal Court.

Talcott P. Dorr, counsel for Mrs. Harris, and representing the interests in the insurance against Harris, asked for the high bail, he said, in the expectation of the district attorney who comes to have the case held in the event of the woman's death.

Attorney Dorr said physicians at Massachusetts General Hospital are in doubt about the woman's recovering.

BANK LOOTER MARSINO LOSES FIGHT FOR LIBERTY

Joseph S. Marsino, confessed looter of the Warren National Bank of Warren, lost his appeal for release from the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta in a decision handed down today in the United States Supreme Court. Marsino asked his release on the ground that he was taken from the prison to be tried by the Massachusetts courts on charges growing out of the same offense for which he is serving Federal sentence. He must now complete his Federal prison term and then come here for a three-year term at the House of Correction in Worcester.

She is coming to Loew's State Theatre next Monday in "Mike," the great comedy.

Beginning today and ending midnight next Saturday, the Boston Evening American is going to try to find the Boston girl who most closely resembles the Sally O'Neill of "Mike."

Look closely at the photograph of "Mike" that accompanies this story and if you think you look like her in any way, mail your photograph—the larger the better—to the "Sally O'Neill Editor" of the Boston American and, within the course of a few days, it will be published. The Boston Evening American will interest the leading merchants in town to outfit the winner from head to the tip of pretty little toes, because the winner must be a beauty.

In addition to this, the Boston American will present the winner on the stage of Loew's next Monday night, a purse of fifty dollars (ten in gold) to the girls who finish second and third, twenty-five dollars in gold each.

The management of Loew's State will offer her a week's engagement provided she can entertain in any way, sing or dance or something like that.

This is bound to prove one of the most popular contests ever arranged for Boston and what with the leading merchants in town behind her, she is bound to receive a galaxy of gifts that even a queen would envy.

Who is the Sally O'Neill of Boston?

This contest will run this week only, closing midnight Saturday.

A committee of competent, unbiased judges will pass on all photographs.

MORALE OF DRY FORCE BROKEN, SAYS ANDREWS

Ministers Told Government Is Doing Nothing to Enforce Prohibition Laws

New York, Jan. 25 (A.P.)—A grand old pessimism in the morale of prohibition agents and Coast Guard has resulted from the courts' failure to convict, Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, told more than 200 ministers of the national union ministerial meeting. Federal District Attorney Buckner said the Federal government was not enforcing prohibition and that, in his opinion, it would be unable to do so until the necessary enforcement machinery was set up. The government, he said, did not seem inclined to create such machinery.

[illegible] of pages of agents and [illegible] Mr. Buckner related how, after taking office as Federal prosecutor, he conferred with one of the high-est officials having to do with prohibition enforcement.

"I received not the slightest support from any Federal authority," he said. "The official said it was never intended that the Federal government should enforce the law. He said grand jury trials for liquor offenders

MYSTERY DISEASE VICTIM TRIES SUICIDE

Haverhill, Jan. 25.—One of the sixty-six victims of the mysterious malady that has been puzzling local doctors became insane today and attempted to leap from a window.

The victim is Tony Lucchka of No. 129 River street, who smashed furniture, shattered mirrors and was seized by neighbors just as he was about to leap from a window of his house.

Dr. E. Lloyd Place, resident physician of the Boston City Hospital, called into consultation by the local board, has not completed his report on blood tests and sputum analysis. Dr. Lyman L. Jones and three other physicians of the State Board of Health arrived here today to study the disease and take cultures.

SPANISH NOBLE'S HAT FROM MUNSEY FOR COOLIDGE

Malines, Jan. 25 (A.P.)—Cardinal Mercier's body will be taken from Malines to the capital to lie in state in the cathedral of St. Gudule, in order to permit wider popular homage, if the government's plans are carried out.

Afterward it will be returned to Malines for interment in the [illegible] for Belgium's Cardinal in accordance with the Cardinal's wishes.

It is taken for granted that the Senate and Chamber will grant the necessary credits for a state funeral on a large scale. The Council of Ministers is unanimously in favor of the plan, and preparations are already under way.

It is estimated that 50,000 persons came here from other parts of Belgium, hoping to get a glimpse of the Cardinal's features. Extra police were summoned for today and arrangements made to preserve better order.

The streets were filled with automobiles, among them those of the French, Spanish and Japanese Ambassadors, who made the trip from Brussels.

The question of a national funeral and the arrangements for the ceremony are being settled at today's Cabinet meeting. Premier Poullet and Baron Jacquemyns, Minister of the Interior, taking the initiative.

William G. Rolfe of West Newton street, Boston, one of five defendants in Middlesex Superior Criminal Court in Cambridge for breaking and entering a Malden tailor shop, collapsed in the dock shortly after the opening of the trial today. After the dock had been removed to an anteroom for medical attention, Assistant District Attorney Bushnell announced he had subpoenaed the indictment against Rolfe as he is serving a long term in prison. A short time later Dr. George Exley, county physician, reported he had examined Rolfe and found him to be shamming. Rolfe was then brought back to court and placed on trial for conspiracy in connection with the break.

375 STRIKING GARMENT WORKERS BACK ON JOBS

Striking garment workers to number of 375 returned to work at the plant of the Tremont Clothing Company today, as a result of an agreement reached at a conference. UNUSUAL FILM AT OLYMPIA

The wives of Dan Cupid are Nerissa and Jane, featured on Eleanor Boardman, Conrad Nagel and William Haines in "Memory Lane," feature film at the Olympia.

The story is somewhat unusual to the general run of screen romances, for the two youthful sweethearts not only do not "elope" at the end, but also does the fair heroine submit to a marriage of parental arrangement with the necessary, perfectly happy with the outcome.

The principals are Mary, Jimmie and John. Mary and John are well along towards the wedding day when fond parents decide that Jimmie should marry the girl—and he does. John disappears and is next seen after a period of years, quite well along in a very "swell" person indeed, the inevitable female shows and the happy wife is disillusioned.

COMMANDER PEARY, on his last dash of 120 miles to the North Pole, took only one of his companions, a colored man, it was said Peary took the negro, because he wanted to be the only white man that ever reached the Pole.

Commander MacMillan, who went with Peary, gives a better reason, particularly interesting to colored men and women.

The negro who accompanied Peary spoke fluently the language of the Esquimaux, could build a snow hut, and drive a dog team better than any white man in the expedition, and he was always cheerful, never complained. That was the man for Peary to take with him.

A BOY IN ILLINOIS raised 149 bushels of corn on one acre. Other boys have made interesting demonstrations with pigs and other enterprises. All that is more important to the United States than "Red" Grange going into professional football, drawing the biggest crowd on record, and making a million.

NURSES PUT OUT FIRE IN HOSPITAL

Benzine Ignites in a Ward at Massachusetts General; Girls Cool in Danger

Quickness and quick action by nurses at Ward 6 of the Massachusetts General Hospital prevented panic among the patients when fire, apparently an explosion of benzine, broke forth and threatened to spread throughout the ward.

An alarm of fire on the fourth floor of the hospital was sounded. The nurses took their extinguishers to the scene, however, and the thoroughly frightened patients were not molested.

A bottle of benzine fell from the hands of a nurse to a small table. The benzine liquid trickled along the leg of the table and was exploded by heat from a burning cigaret.

MARY GARDEN'S IRE UP OVER HUB SLIGHT

a new black sable wrap, heading for Shaw wit heyes blazing with the look an enraged lioness.

SHAW FACES MUSIC.

"Hooten help us!" muttered a lesser operatic notable in her wake. "Merle's killed for a matinee sure!"

Like a lamb to the slaughter, Manager Shaw, having spied Miss Gardner's red toque advancing through the crowd, went to greet his temperamental star.

"Hello, Mary," and he extended his hand.

"Did a Boston magician in his face.

"How dare you—you! In he— do you mean by giving me a Boston debut on a Wednesday matinee?" she screamed.

"Now, now—

"Yes, now-now, I feel like taking the first train to New York," repeated the soprano. "Me open in Boston on a matinee! In Boston!"

HUB FRIENDS THERE.

If no one interfered but I'm willing to sit back and accept any thing like that. What do they think they're putting on at a matinee, anyway?" she cried.

Manager Shaw, bit by bit, squeezed in an assurance that he did nothing to do with the making of the Boston program and he would see that Miss Gardner's wishes were respected.

It was learned later than she did prevent the "night" while en route here and before leaving the station she obtained reservations on a New York train for this evening.

Although in no one stunned and produced, Edith Mason, Polanco, and other stars of the company stood ground. A host of Miss Gardner's Boston friends were also awaiting her arrival at the hotel, but she had waved them aside without so much as a "Glad to see you," until she had finished with her torrent of protest.

With a last declaration that her enthusiasm was gone, but might be recovered if threats were made, the star turned from the hub willed tour manager, flashed a fine smile at the perturbed audience, and was off to her private suite.

NO DIET FOR HER.

Friends also were on hand to greet Edith Mason, Olga Forral, Cyrena Van Gordon, Charles Marshall, Claudia Muzio, Fernand Anreeau and others.

Miss Vera Gordon, as one of the American stars of the entourage, came in for especial attention, as in the past. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Cora E. Pocock. Miss Van Gordon is a Bostonian and the wife of a prominent physician. She spoke gaily of American dinners being able to "eat without fear."

"There is no diet for me; no starving myself all day," she said. "That's because I'm an American soprano. Only a few hours before singing I eat a hearty meal, steak and everything, but on such a diet Europeans would perish."

And to prove that she meant what she said, she headed straight for the dining salon, ordered a full-course meal as her first step in her "training" for the part of Venus in Die Walkure tonight.

EXPECT COOLIDGE WILL CUT MITCHELL SENTENCE

Washington, Jan. 25. (INS.)—Colonel William Mitchell's five-year suspension sentence was placed in the hands of President Coolidge today for final approval. It is expected that the President will mitigate the sentence. While the War Department refused to comment officially, there were persistent reports that Secretary of War Davis had recommended a diminution of the sentence to a reprimand for three years with a restoration of a small part of Mitchell's pay.

THE THEATRE

Here and There

Nailing a Lie
The Engineer Knows
Schiller Arrives
Fiddlers Linger

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

In the long run, evil report and baseless slander reach their own low level—and then perish. This is coming true in the case of the Metropolitan Theater, which has suffered unjustly from the many vicious rumors concerning the financial safety of the house. M. Spofford, head draftsman of civil engineers in the Institute of Technology, has been engaged half time over a period of years. The past week has been a morning newspaper, as well as

MR. SPOFFORD knows what he is talking about when he says the Metropolitan is superior in cost to the famous Grand Opera House in Paris and the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. An engineer of high standing, and the head of a department in one of the greatest engineering schools in the country, he brings knowledge to bear upon his statement. His words should completely and permanently silence all of the rumors concerning the financial condition of the Metropolitan Theater. Now let the public get on with the business of enjoying the splendid productions that have made the Metropolitan famous.

Schiller Is Here.

ALTHOUGH very little about Edward A. Schiller finds its way in public prints, he still remains an exceedingly important cog in the Marcus Loew theatrical machinery. As Mr. Loew's partner in a multitude of exploits in art, he has moved upon Boston to apply finishing touches to the new style of program which is to be started on its new way at the State Theatre tonight. Mr. Schiller arrived last night; today he is toiling in leisurely on Massachusetts avenue. He is accompanied on this trip by Lionel H. Keene, general assistant and all-around handy man. The pair will remain several days just to see that a good job is done.

Ed. A. Schiller

Number days Mr. Schiller lived in Boston—in the South End. He was born his parents moved here from New York. But the greater part of his life has been almost quietly and prosperously in the heart of Broadway. His particular job at this time is the supervision of a new theatres now under construction for the Loew chain of playhouses. Like Marcus Loew, the associate and partner in whose name is entered upon the several contracts with small capital and made them pay. His original investment was $1. Not even Mr. Loew can match that.

Fiddlers Holding On.

THE fiddling championship of New England having been settled, Joseph Shippe, who captured the golden prize, is now offering his services at reasonable honest rates. Those who want to hear him or hear him at his best will join the line at Keith's any day this week. Mr. Shippe is the main event on the bill, in order to keep the fiddling down to a genuine chamber music pitch there will be old time and modern dancing contests in a stimulating side dish.

ALASKAN PLAY AT FENWAY

Alaska, generally pictured in the mind as a land of low temperatures, is to be made to shiver in the Fenway Theatre on Monday evening, January 25, when the premier presentation of Barrett Willoughby's "Call of the Mounted" at the Fenway. The art of the motion picture is to be employed in a manner that it has undertaken to reproduce scenes of great grazing grandeur. In "Flock of Many" is an instance of this. Alaska's Arctic wilderness is concerning entirely novel to the usual run of pictures audiences. Instead of the usual scenes of green and open fixed waters or much talked of the snow-capped peaks of mountains.

Director George Melford, who has put "Spanish" to his credit, has kept the thrill and romance of the story in consonance with beauty of the scenic backgrounds he ably assisted by the cast. Idlyan Tashman, John Hoover, Rockliffe Fellows and Luke Cosgrave.

DEPORTATION FACES WOMAN PROHIBITIONIST

New York, Jan. 25.—Mrs. Annalise Ruegg-Alekhine, noted prohibitionist of Europe and wife of Alexander Alekhine, internationally famous chess player, has been held three weeks at Ellis Island for deportation because she has been unable to interest dry advocates here to her plight. Also awaiting deportation is Mrs. Ruegg-Alekhine's four-year-old son, Alexander, Jr.

LEWISTON JOURNAL IS SOLD TO DAILY SUN

Lewiston, Me., Jan. 25 (A.P.)—The Lewiston Evening Journal has been sold to the owners of the Lewiston Daily Sun.

The Journal was established in 1847 by the late Governor Nelson Dingley and has been in the hands of the Dingley family for years. The sun has been a morning newspaper only since

UPSET LAMP BURNS BABY TO DEATH IN ORPHANAGE

Washington, Jan. 25 (A.P.)—A medicated lamp, placed to aid the labored breathing of an infant ill at a foundling home here, took the child's life when it overturned. The lamp ignited a sheet over the crib and the baby, eleven months old, was fatally burned.

HARVARD PROFESSOR IS ROBBED OF $350 COAT

Clair T. Leonard, Harvard instructor, is without a fur coat this chilly day and feels the loss. He strolled into the rooms of the Harvard Club, laid aside his $350 garment and busied himself reading. Although the coat was almost at his elbow, it disappeared.

Shopping with Priscilla Price

DEAREST ANNE:

I do wish you had been in Boston this week. It certainly is the one city in the world I love to shop in. You can always get what you want when you want it. Bessie's wedding was Wednesday, and we now second getting last-minute touches for her trousseau: fitting in between to the private view of the young Russian, Feshin's pictures at the Vose Gallery and the benefit performance of "Abie's Irish Rose" for the Disabled Ex Men's Exchange. One day we bought shoes [illegible]

Southern Wear and Northern Spring

—at Thayer McNeil's. Their Boylston St. shop is at 474 and I have never seen anything more fascinating than their new models. Color certainly is coming into its own at last, and "le mot juste" for every costume you will find at Thayer McNeil's.

Delightful are the new French suffia shoes for [illegible] are all made to hand. Why, only Frenchmen could conceive of anything so charming as of pumps and colors together?

The little sketch I have drawn for you is white buckskin with two tones of tan leather that look like pigskin, or white and black, and is being worn with practically every sort of sport costume at Biarritz.

Florida cloth slippers with the new extra high heels come in lovely soft pastel colorings and are smart for tea under the palms. Thayer McNeil is the only place you can get them in Boston. Shoes and hats next month. The delicate sauterne, opal gray and bois de rose kids that are trimmed with beautiful shades, alligator or [illegible] skin complete the toute ensemble. Thayer McNeil's shop uptown be really irresistible and there got many of her trousseau shoes and slippers there.

The Last Word From Paris

—in hosiery is "CHIFFON LISLE." For all street wear, the very latest models are those that one must have stockings of this new and marvelously super fine thread. And as Filene's is always aware of the very latest ideas in the world of women's accessories, I went there yesterday morning planning to get these latest fine stockings. And there they were!

In Filene's wonderful hosiery department they have these imported Cotton Lisle stockings in all the new shades and those in the smart cool "Pale Powder Tobacco" delicate tones of tan and taupe and [illegible] and fleshcolor, very others of gray and gun metal.

They are absolutely without sheen—the ideal stocking for Parisian use or rich well textured, some of them have a pearl chiffon weave, with a simple open work, while others are of an allover mesh in a lacy pattern, frail as mist, and yet they wear both and well.

I bought a dozen pairs for Bessie's trousseau, for they are extraordinarily low in price. Stockings used to be just hosiery—but these lovely things come near being works of art!

"To Be Young—To Be In Love—

—to be in Paris" as what a poet once said about a Mediterranean cruise, and Bessie and Bessie have decided to take the Raymond and Whitcomb Spring Mediterranean Cruise. They will be sailing [illegible] on the "Carinthia," the Raymond and Whitcomb combination—which is the latest Cunarder, and one of the most modern of the world in size and comfort.

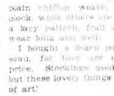
Tom Ireland says that the passenger list is made up of most delightful people from all parts of this country, and people who have been on previous Raymond and Whitcomb tours say that the friendly spirit among the passengers makes these cruises a delightful social experience.

Just think of the places they will see—Cadiz, Gibraltar, Tunis, Athens, Naples—and all the romantic seaports of the Mediterranean of legend and history! And the Raymond and Whitcomb Company arranges that you may, after a generous visit in Europe, return to America on such famous ships as the "Aquitania," "Mauretania" or "Berengaria," with the return passage included in the rates for the cruise. Don't you wish you were going? I do!

Mrs. B. H. Bristow Draper, prominent as a patroness of the arts and music and a charming hostess in Boston social circles, and a morning shopping tour on Tremont street.

Where To Have The Wedding

—was quite a problem to Bessie. As you know, her home is not very large and she wished to have all her friends present. She also wished to spare her family the thousand and one [illegible] of such an occasion. So she decided to have the wedding ceremony and reception at the Copley Plaza [illegible] where one can be sure of exquisite service. For a small wedding, the Copley Plaza places at one's disposal the beautiful Bonne Suite, while the more formal weddings, where a large number of guests are expected, are held in the large Ballroom, whose beautiful rooms lend themselves to floral decoration of simple or elaborate



BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Many Important Social Events Mark Late February in Hub

LATE FEBRUARY'S CALENDAR IS ALL a-sparkle with functions of utmost smartness, three of which, with special eclat and brilliance, focus the fashionable spotlight on February's third week. There is, for instance, the Senior Supper Dance on February 19, always smartest of the smart.

MRS. BAYARD THAYER is more to say because a daughter, Miss Mabel Harrod Thayer, is announced for February 18 is of course vastly interesting to Boston's ultra circles and makes known a small army of New York's fashionables.

THIRD IN THE TRIO is that agreeably annual function, the Bachelors' Ball traditionally delegated to the Friday before Washington's birthday (this year the 19th). This Winter it has an intown setting, the powers that be having chosen the Algonquin Club.

A SENIOR SUPPER DANCE on the same evening means a deal of "going on" from one to the other for both dances draw their devotees from the same ultra circles. The "Bachelors" will have a guest list of two hundred and the Seniors, some four or five hundred.

POPULAR AND IMPORTANT young hostesses are cheery hosts for this annual hospitality and to be hidden clues are the coveted hallmark of exclusiveness and chic. It's a brilliant gathering that's invited, girls, young matrons and men from Boston, New York and Philadelphia.

HOSTS ARE MOSTLY young Harvard men scattered far and near. Cards of invitation will have such important names as T. Jefferson Coolidge, Henry B. Cabot, Jr., Dudley L. Pickman, Frances M. Weld and Amory Coolidge.

MRS. GEORGE S. WEST, interested in promoting a series of moving picture mornings for the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children. The first is to be given in March at the Exeter Street Theatre.

MRS. H. H. BRISTOW DRAPER'S box guests for tonight's Grand Opera opening are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Butler, Mr. and Mrs. William Aldrich and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Milton. Mrs. Draper entertains each evening and for the matinees as well.

BEFORE THE MATINEE of this Wednesday, when Mary Garden and "Carmen" will fill the opera house as usual, Mrs. Draper is entertaining at luncheon at her Commonwealth avenue place and then brings her guests to the opera. In fact Opera Weeks will be a series of large functions having Mrs. Draper as hostess.

THE PARTY FOR which Mrs. William Gordon Means is hostess this evening includes the Hon. Henry Getty Chilton, British Minister, who is up from Washington, as house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Means. Also in the Means' box will be the Honorable Richard Olney and Mrs. Olney.

ON THURSDAY Mr. and Mrs. Means are dinner guests of the Don Dexter at the Chilton Club. Mr. Dexter's opera and dinner guests include a smart company—Mr. and Mrs. Lynde Cochrane and the Will ams Goodriches.

MR. AND MRS. E. Sohier Welch have Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich in their box for the opening this evening, together with Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Alley. The Welch box is ever a delight during opera season with the handsome chatelaine, Mrs. Welch, wearing a series of stunning gowns.

IT IS DUE TO Mr. Welch and Mr. Wallace Goodrich that Boston's opera fare this season is full of variety and delightful promise. The roll fairly gleams with offerings of rare pleasure to musical Boston.

SUCH AS, FOR instance, the "Norodiade" chosen for performance on Wednesday week with Edith Mason, Cyrena Van Gordon and Fernand Anseau carrying stellar honors. Likewise "La Traviata" on Wednesday next.

WITH CLAUDIO MUZIO and Tito Schipa as principals and Mozarnoni wielding the baton, Traviata ranks high in the brilliant series. Altogether a splendid successful season opens this evening, one long to be remembered in Boston musical history.

TWO BOXES PRESIDED over this evening by Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller will blaze resplendent in the glowing circle. His Excellency, the Governor, and the handsome Mrs. Fuller, are entertaining the Governor's staff.

MUCH GOLD LACE and the trappings of military high command will adorn the party in which General Jesse B. Stevens and Mrs. Stevens take the precedence due to rank. There'll be no more resplendently arrayed matron than Mrs. Fuller in the whole opera house.

AND, OF COURSE, the ladies of the staff will second her in royal fashion. Mrs. Theodore L. Sayre and Captain Storer, Captain Wethke E. Wesson and Mrs. Wesson, and Mrs. Harold D. Winslow and Captain Winslow will be there.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE pouring down on the attractive head of Miss Miriam Winslow for her superb horsemanship and capture of ribbons at the New Riding Club Show. Miss Winslow, second daughter of the Sidney W. Winslows, is of Clyde street, Brookline, is a spirited horsewoman.

SHE IS ONE OF THE RIDING Club's cleverest riders and, with her horse "Tip Top," takes home many a ribbon. The Winslows, father and mother, are underwriters for the Opera and will be seen frequently in their places in the orchestra, which equals the box circle for importance and fine raiment.

VOICING THE GREAT VOICE OF DEMOCRACY OF THE AIR

SAMUEL CURTIS, JR., Radio Editor

Radio listeners, who are trying for European reception during the present tests, should pay careful attention to their receiving antenna. In order to get the most out of an antenna, the insulation must be virtually perfect. This matters but little on local reception, but may mean the difference between success or failure during the international tests.

A worthwhile feature tonight will be WNAC's broadcast from the Boston Chamber of Commerce. This will take place at 7:40 P. M., and will consist of an address by Assistant Secretary of War Hanford MacNider. This feature will be followed, at 8:55, by the broadcast from the Metropolitan Theatre, a weekly event with WNAC, in which the Metropolitan Grand Orchestra is heard to excellent advantage.

Mrs. S. L. B. of Framingham wants to ...know how to make an irresistible syrup ...for griddle cakes—pure maple is a bit ex...pensive for her family.

HOME MADE MAPLE SYRUP
...2 cups water
...6 cups sugar.
...1 t... Maple Flavoring.
...Add sugar to the boiling water. Take ...from the fire. Stir until dissolved. Add the maple flavoring. (I can't give you this trade name here). This will give you a quart of delicious syrup that is equally good on griddles, waffles, popovers, hot rolls, French Toast, Corn Meal Mush, Boiled Rice and steamed Puddings. There's a wonderful new cook book out showing delicious dishes that can be made with maple flavoring. Just send me a loose stamp if you would like a copy.

Mrs. C. H. S. of Elm Hill, Roxbury asks for a recipe for a Marshmallow Mayonnaise to serve on fruit salad. She's going to try it for a bridge luncheon.

MARSHMALLOW MAYONNAISE
...2 tbs. tablespoonfuls of marshmallow cream.
...2 teaspoons lemon juice or vinegar (more or less, according to your individual taste).
...¼ teaspoon salt.
...3 teaspoons water.

Beat very until stiff.

Add the water to the marshmallow cream and rub smooth. It will work up more rapidly if water is added a little at a time. Add the oil and mix thoroughly. There is no danger of separation as in regular mayonnaise. Then add the salt and lemon to suit your taste. Double or treble the recipe for a party salad. I'm sending you a little book of marshmallow recipes that I know you'll enjoy trying. Come back to the party!

Last of all an S. O. S. call from Mrs. J. Prospect street, Somerville, for Baked Bean Stew.

Split the kidneys, wash and drain them, and cut into pieces of uniform size. Put in a sauce pan and bring to a boil, slowly drain off the water, cover with cold water and bring slowly to a boil again. Drain the kidneys, roll them in flour and brown them in four tablespoonfuls of melted shortening. When they are brown, add enough boiling water to cover. Add salt and pepper, and a teaspoon of kitchen bouquet, a teaspoon of Worcestershire, a half teaspoon of lemon juice and four onions cut fine. Then add 2 cups of potatoes, cut in inch cubes. When the potatoes are done, thicken the gravy with two tablespoonfuls of flour stirred smooth in cold water. A big table spoonful of currant jelly added the last thing will greatly improve the flavor of this stew. The onions can be omitted if you wish.

Good Food Values in and Around Boston

TEA FOR TWO

WILL BE DELICIOUS if you use a certain fragrant tea—in convenient bags or clever canisters—and one of the new heat proof glass tea pots. They come in tall, graceful or fat and squatty shapes. The tea is my favorite—and one bag makes two big cups. Drop me a line for a sample. I'll tell you where it's demonstrated. Orange Pekoe and India Ceylon. It is try you'll buy.

BAG-GAINS IN COFFEE—too. This week only. Highest grade (a famous blend) at 45c a pound. As fine a coffee as can be purchased anywhere, at any price. Always fresh. Two other excellent grades at 39c and 35c. Write promptly for these items.

IF YOU'VE NEVER FOUND bran bread to suit you, do try it in a certain tea room. Plain or in a big, delicious "special" sandwich with cream cheese, mayonnaise and lettuce. A wonderful Blue Plate Special dinner here, too, for 75c. Exquisite service and surroundings.

EVERYBODY'S MAKING THEM NOW! Making what? Mouth-watering waffles, tender and golden brown, from a "just add cold water and stir" prepared waffle flour. Don't envy your neighbor's waffles—make 'em yourself this easy way. 20 oz. or 5 lb. tins. Do try them for Sunday breakfast—or supper. Yum Yum!

"DELICIOUS!" you'll say, when you sample a tasty Welsh Rarebit. Ready prepared in glass jar. An unequalled sandwich spread. Not the kind you're thinking of! Something new. Equally good for rarebit, cheese dreams, bacon sandwiches, with macaroni and spachetti, potatoes au gratin, for fish sauce and in baked potatoes. Write me for recipe leaflet.

MAKE HUBBY'S EYES POP with fresh blueberry muffins. An auntie down in Maine sends them up here, put up in sanitary glass jars for Winter pies, muffins and cakes. Truly you can't tell them from fresh. 35c a jar—and goes a long way. Write me for my pet blueberry dumpling recipe.

"SPINACH MAY BE THE WHICK BROOM of the stomach, but tauerkraut is the vacuum cleaner" says a wise doctor! The real home made kind—brim full of the vital vitamines, is 25c a quart at a Summer St. food shop. Deliciously piquant. Stimulates the appetite. Rich in bone-building substances. A real health food.

A WONDERFUL WASHING FLUID may be had from a formula I'll gladly send you. The brand of lye is the secret of its harmless magic. Wonderful for soap making, too, and for all cleaning purposes. Efficient. Economical. Saves time and labor.

ACHES AND PAINS seem prevalent this weather. I've found nothing better than a certain piney smelling oil to rub away that "grippey" feeling. Used on burns, prevents blisters and scars. Loosens up stubborn coughs, too. A blessing for Grandpa's rheumatism.

A STRONG STOMACH DEFIES DISEASE. Take a tonic in your food. An appetizer as well as a delicious flavoring. Helps digestion. Contains no drugs. Wonderful in fruit cocktails, ices and desserts. Made since 1824. Taken 29 gold medals. Can you guess?

AS FRESH AS THE BLUEBERRIES are the raspberries in a certain gelatine dessert. New—healthful—quickly made. Flavored with pure juices right from the fresh fruit. The solution of the daily dessert problem.

THE MAKERS of a world-famous baking powder publish a cook book that's worth real dollars to the bride. Equally valuable to her mother. You can depend on the recipes just as you can on the baking powder. A separate book on biscuit-making. Shall I send you one or both?

IF YOU INVEST in the tasty welsh rarebit, do try it on real whole wheat crackers—the kind we all know. Made of perfect whole wheat grains, clean and fresh. These cheese sandwiches are delicious for teas, picnics, and journeys by land or sea. Contain oodles of real, concentrated nourishment.

MY LYNN READERS can enjoy a delicious English dessert sold only in one shop in Lynn. In powder form. Almond flavoring. Makes a delicious luncheon or dinner sweet, or a hot pudding sauce. Like a rich custard. 20c.

I'LL GLADLY TELL YOU WHERE you can purchase one or all of these items. Just clip out the column, mark the items and send to me with a loose stamp for prompt reply. Or write me about your special marketing problems. I love to help.

FIRST LESSON IN LAMP SHADE MAKING

LESSON NO. 1

I have been bitten! By the Lamp Shade Making bug! And I'm spending my lunch hours in a quiet corner of a certain shop struggling with my first shade.

At first I intended to make my shade at home, but experiments are expensive, and I ended by piling frame, materials and pins into a big bundle and seeking expert advice in one of the many shops that conduct classes in shademaking. I'll gladly tell you their names if you'll drop me a line.

It's quite possible to make your shades at home if you prefer, however, especially if you will follow the lessons that I will pass along to you each week. I'm just a tenderfoot myself, but my teacher is a wizard, and you can profit by her instructions to me.

FIRST STEPS.

First you will purchase the frame. The average price is from $1.25 to $2.50, according to size, but I found one shop that is specializing in all shapes and sizes—even the biggest floor lamp size—for 91 cents. Actually the same frames I saw two weeks ago for $3!

In choosing your frames for a table lamp see that the frame harmonizes with the base and that the bottom of the frame just covers the top of the fixture. An eight-yard piece of binding tape is 35 cents, and for a floor lamp you will need two to three rolls.

Most people use china silk for lining, but taffeta is more beautiful and scarcely more expensive since only one thickness is necessary—whereas a double china silk lining is frequently used. For a floor lamp you will need about three-fourths of a yard.

BIND THE FRAME.

First bind the frame with the tape—which should be of a color to harmonize with the lining. Do the up and down wires first, then the wires that go across, to cover up the ends. Be sure to make the wrapping very tight.

Work with the inside end of the binding tape. Hold it close to the wire and wrap it tightly. At a joint wrap three times each way in X like formation. Never cut the binding in order to skip a part already covered. An extra wrap will strengthen the foundation for you to sew on.

Next cut out your lining, from selvage to selvage, always pulling a thread before cutting. Allow an extra inch top and bottom and at each end. Stretch the lining over very tightly, pinning it firmly in place. Then sew it down.

If it is necessary to piece the lining, be sure that the raw edges of the seam, when finished, will be turned towards the inside of the frame.

Next week we'll cover our shade and think about the trimming.

BABY'S LAYETTE SHOULD BE SENSIBLE

At last! The first of the series of articles so many of you have requested on the care and training of the most delightful tyrants in the world—Babies.

You know I am not a spinster, full of book lore on children's diets and training, and utterly experienced in the proper boxing of kittens and parrots.

My husky six footer, down at prep school in Providence, is the living exponent of my theories, and as he has just passed a rigid physical for 109 per cent. plus, maybe I can be excused for a little humble pride in my methods.

We will start at the beginning with our baby, and consider his first wardrobe.

Don't make the mistake of wasting a lot of your precious energy and strength slaving over baby clothes. Remember that another pair will want to make some of the garments, but life is too full-crowded of time, strength and money to invest in a lot of unnecessary things. Here's a list for about $15. These are of excellent quality and you can make a good start on all the outfit for a wee larger sum. The baby will need at first, not less than three or four bottles and it will not be necessary to outfit him now.

The first garment a mother makes for her baby is a shirt. Get enough for five, and have them made with long sleeves and feet-covered bottoms. Nothing is more unnecessary. I don't care much whether it comes over the head or buttons in front. It is not very warm in winter, but is cool in summer, and beautiful dresses may be worn over it. Get 12 wide-hem flannel petticoats, 12 of the same kind without hems, 6 flannel bands, 6 of cotton or wool and silk, which is, of course, optional, though a bit more expensive. Some mothers prefer silk and wool bands as well as silk ones, which is an extravagance as it stands.

Get 6 wool baby flannel petticoats you can save enough cotton from the flannel to make the 6 cotton petticoats. The wool will shrink away with "shortening" like Hindoos at a wedding, which used to be the official period for calling in the neighbors to see baby's babies displayed to the world for the first time.

It's no longer a struggle to insert the baby into his garments. Neck bands are essential. Get 6 outing flannel kimonos, 6 cotton ones, 6 dressing-sacks which simplifies dressing, 6 sacques and 6 shirts, all of wool. A pairs of long merino stockings. And as we're in dreadful style these days, let the all be white.

I have suggested part wool for the shirts and bands as it will not shrink as readily as all wool. These may be either of wool and cotton or wool and silk, which is, of course, more expensive. Though a bit more expensive. Some mothers prefer silk and wool bands as well as silk shirts, which is an extravagance as it stands.

Get 6 wool baby flannel petticoats you can save enough cotton from the flannel to make the 6 cotton petticoats. And as we're in dreadful style these days, let the all be white.

Just a word about blankets. Don't purchase anything smaller than 36 inches long for the first two months. I am six feet nine inches tall and I find 36 inches long enough. Get 6 outing flannel blankets, two of which may be pink or blue—preferably both, as will be necessary to determine the baby's sex before you buy your woolen for the boys. It's important to get the correct shade, as baby is to be a delight to you both, as well as a credit. In choosing the baby equipment don't forget a rubber apron for yourself, and when baby starts solids a rubber apron for baby's self use, also. From the baby list, get a bassinet in a serviceable, and may be purchased already fitted quite reasonably. They are fitted to make your self. Or maybe you will want to splurge on a regular crib. Get a mattress that will hold even baby himself while he is being dressed.

Let me know if a Baby Clothes meet with your approval—and also let me tell you with your pen in preference. You know I consider it a privilege as well as pleasure to have you call on me.

Printed Silks to Dominate in Spring Wear

A fashion authority who has just returned from abroad tells us that printed silks are going to have an enormous run the coming season. He says: "There is no sign of these silks diminishing in popularity. They predominate at every fashion show, and are no longer a passing fad but a wardrobe necessity."

Last week a smart Fifth avenue shop devoted nine windows to a display of Spring patterns in these silks. A timely tip for the forthcoming January sales.

HOW TO LIGHTEN THIN CREAM FOR WHIPPING

We all know that thin cream is quite a bit sweeter than the "double" cream, but sometimes refuses to whip. One tablespoon of gelatine added to a pint of thin cream will make it whip quite as successfully as the thicker cream. First dissolve the gelatine in one tablespoonful of hot water. When cold, add it to the cream and beat.

Smoothtop

The NEW GAS Range with 3 cooking zones

Boiling Zone

Other Gas Ranges cook over the burner only. The "Smoothtop" is hot all over. For quick cooking the constant heat of the New Speed Burner Works 25 per cent. faster.

Simmering Zone

When the food starts to cook, it is pushed back to the simmering zone. This leaves the boiling zone free for other foods to be cooked, saving time and gas.

Warming Zone

Have foods are kept at just the right temperature until ready to serve and without lighting an extra burner. Thus an entire meal may be cooked and brought to the table "piping hot."

SECOND SECTION

A Live Serial of Love and Temptation Right Here In Boston

READ THIS FIRST:

FLOSSIE and MARY ROSE MIDDLETON are two pretty sisters, the daughters of a widowed mother. They work for Dexter & Co., big Congress street bond firm.

Mary Rose is secretary to the sales manager, JOHN MANNERS, and she is in love with him. He is engaged to an heiress, DORIS HINIG. Because of her feeling for him, Mary Rose reluctantly refuses to marry TOM FITZROY, a young doctor.

Flossie, Mary Rose discovers, is carrying on a secret flirtation with the head of the concern, HILARY DEXTER, although she is supposed to his secretary, SAM JESSUP.

John Manners read his mother's note and handed it back to Mary Rose. His tone was fully polite. "Why ask me?" he said.

When Mary Rose scolds Flossie about letting Dexter make love to her, Flossie declares that Dexter would divorce his wife and marry her, if she'd let him do it!

Manners rouses Doris Hinig's jealousy by taking Mary Rose home to meet his invalid mother, and finally tells her that he loves her.

The two sisters quarrel, and to get even with Mary Rose Flossie tells Manners that she's just "stringing him along" and is really in love with Tom Fitzroy.

Mrs. Dexter finds Flossie's vanity case in her husband's car, and mistakes Mary Rose for her when she finds her taking dictation from Dexter. She "bawls out" Mary Rose before the whole office, before Dexter has time to explain that she is not Flossie Middleton but Flossie's sister. Dexter finally calms his wife down and takes her home. Flossie begs Mary Rose not to let any one know that it was she who left the case in Dexter's car because she's afraid Sam Jessup won't marry her if he finds out that she's been running around with the "Big Boss." So Mary Rose takes the blame. The girls at the office snub her and John Manners who has believed Flossie's story becomes formal and distant. One day Mary Rose has an invitation for dinner from his mother and she shows it to him.

SPORT EDITORIAL

THE next month will find some 400 baseball hopefuls packing their suitcases, oiling their fielding gloves and heading Southward with glowing dreams of big league greatness.

If they made book on baseball players' prospects, as they do on the races, the bookmakers right now would be writing into their future books the names of every one of those 400 rookies. And after each name they would post odds of 10 to 1 or 15 to 1 against their success.

They'd make a lot of money on such a proposition, too.

Breaking into the big leagues is one of the toughest sporting propositions under the face of the sun. Almost any other sport offers greater opportunity.—FORD C. FRICK.

You can hit P. A. and it won't hit back

YOU can hit it up with a jimmy-pipe and P. A. from the moment you finish breakfast till you crawl between the sheets at night . . . slow or fast . . . pipe-load upon pipe-load. It won't bite your tongue and it won't parch your throat.

Because—the Prince Albert process hit Bite and Parch a body-blow in the very first round. Millions of men who thought they never could pal with a pipe are now Prince Albert regulars. They've found the one tobacco that fits their taste neat and nifty.

You'll say so. Cool as the well-known cucumber. Mellow as moonlight on a limpid lake. Fragrant as spring blossoms. That's Prince Albert all over. When you get going with a jimmy-pipe and P. A., you can lick the world with one hand tied.

Just around the corner is a friendly shop where they hand out P. A. sunshine in tidy red tins. This is your cue to turn your tiller in that direction. Get yourself a supply of this grand old tobacco that has made so many men downright pipe-happy.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic Coughs and Persistent Colds Lead to Serious Trouble. You Can Stop Them Now With Creomulsion, an Emulsified Creosote That Is Pleasant to Take.

Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth, then aids nature to throw off the phlegm and poisons. Among druggists, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agents for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat and bronchial troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial [illegible], bronchitis and other forms of [illegible] respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if [illegible] cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist for Creomulsion. [illegible], Atlanta, Ga.

COOK-COOS by Ted Cook

If every one will remain quiet and respectfully refrain from making unwarranted comments, we will print the following Item from Monrovia:

"Local business men are watching with keen interest an effort to establish a new bank in Monrovia. An application for a charter to open a Citizens' National Bank here having been made by Colonel R. E. Frith, Southland prohibition administrator."

Of course, there are always those who cast slurs at prohibition enforcement officials.

But the rest of us congratulate Colonel Frith!

If mail carriers and government employes generally would practice more thrift and stop throwing their money away in meat markets and shoe stores they, too, might start banks.

It is to be deplored that a prohibition agent cannot open a bank without Sumner street smart alecks making curidious cracks.

* * *

Go to it, Kernel Frith. We're all behind you.

"Ramon Novarro yesterday returned from the East, carrying one of the finest fur coats New York ever produced.

Stepping from the train into the California sunshine, he turned to the porter. 'Here,' he said, 'Take this and keep it. I'm never going to leave California.' The porter enthusiastically accepted the fur coat.

Here's Uncle Ezra's latest enthusiasm:

He says: "Have you heard the one about the Duncan sisters?"

You say: "No."

He says: "Well, there's a fella who was so dumb he didn't know the Duncan sisters were vaudeville performers. He thought they were two girls who got their name from sopping doughnuts in coffee."

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath, find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the horrors of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect, 10c and 30c.

THE FOXY GRANDPA DAILY BEDTIME STORY

By Foxy Grandpa

"FOXY GRANDPA," said Bobby one Summer when we were stopping for awhile at a summer hotel, "do you see that young lady over there? Those two young men are always with her. I suppose they want to marry her."

"I should think they would," I replied. "She is a very beautiful girl and just as sweet and sensible as she is beautiful."

"Who was Marpessa, Foxy Grandpa?" asked the boy quickly.

"Marpessa, to begin with, was a princess and very beautiful."

"All the princesses were beautiful, weren't they?" asked Bobby. "I've never heard of an ugly princess in Greece yet."

It seems that way," I laughed and went on.

"Well, at any rate, Marpessa was so beautiful that Idas, a very handsome young man and a great fighter and hero as well, fell in love with her.

"And the same time Apollo, the god of the sun and the handsomest of all the gods, fell in love with Marpessa, which was a great compliment to the earthly princess."

"I know it," declared Bobby, "because all of the goddesses up in Olympus liked Apollo and had fights over him."

"They did," I laughed, "but Apollo loved the earthly maiden, Marpessa, and wanted her to marry him.

"But, Idas—although he was not nearly as handsome as Apollo—was the bolder of the two. And what did he do one day, but drive right up to Marpessa's father's house in his chariot with swift horses and carried Marpessa away!

"Apollo, looking down from Olympus, laid down his cup of nectar when he saw what was going on and flew down to earth to stop the bold Idas from fleeing with Marpessa.

"Apollo encountered them and he felt quite confident that Marpessa would turn to him and marry him. So he told her at once that she would have to decide right then and there between the two.

"If did not take Marpessa a moment to decide. She looked right into Apollo's eyes and then she spoke. She said she knew that Apollo was a good and very handsome man and she thanked him for asking her to be his wife, but she preferred Idas. She told Apollo that he was immortal and would never grow old while she would. And there she would be an old lady with a young husband who wouldn't understand when she was tired or sick, while Idas would be getting old himself and would share her worries and troubles. So Marpessa and Idas were married and lived happily ever after."

"I'll bet it was that fast chariot that Marpessa liked and I'll bet that girl over there will take that fellow with the roadster," whispered Bobby.

These figures show that gross postal receipts for the New England States during the last reported year were:

New Hampshire	2,010,156.24
Vermont	1,654,284.14

Elmer H. Bright & Co. of the New York and Boston Stock Exchanges are opening a branch office in the new Park Square building, Boston. This will be one of these commission houses on State street.

A Boston figure seen once or twice a week in Wall street is Irwin Bernham of the Harvard Business School, who has numerous engagements a month in New York, on financial matters. Once in a while he calls in at Schlesinger field Coal Corporation, of which he is a director. He is also a director of Clinchfield Coal Corporation, and he was a vice-president of the Old Colony Trust Company, and has served the board every year since. Associated with him in New York always pleasantly and quite by his is because of his enthusiasm more or less of undertakings in the routine problems in every day operation life. He is described as theoretical but never impractical.

of Shields, Ladd & Co. brought to an organization [illegible] for contributions and [illegible] another group of [illegible] of the 16 Dillon, Read partners 40 are under 40 years of age, which is the age of Clarence Dillon. Mr. Wilcox, who was made a partner last October is only 31. Like Mr. Dillon, he comes from before the Maxim and Dillon line, having been born in Norfolk Va.

While Mr. Wilcox has had charge of the Boston office only since October, he is by no means a stranger in these parts, having prepared for college at Groton and has graduated from Harvard in 1917. His athletic prowess at college is still fresh in the memories of sports followers. Although weighing but 43 pounds, Wilcox made the football team and in addition holds the distinction of being Charter quarter miler Harvard ever had. His record of 48 seconds flat stands as the best time for that event in a Harvard-Yale track meet.

His career with Dillon, Read & Co. started New York in 1917, but the war, during which he was an officer in the naval aviation corps, he was promoted to the New York office with the company's real state financing and also opened the Dillon, Read Baltimore branch. His banking connections and good augurites for the future of the Boston branch.

Hudson Motor Car Company was formed in 1909 and incorporated under the laws of Michigan on February 24, 1909, when it succeeded to and took over the business of a partnership formed in 1908. It manufactures the Hudson Super Six and owns the entire capital stock of the Essex Motors.

The success attained by the company has been chiefly achieved by producing closed cars that can be sold at prices almost equal to the open models.

Earnings have increased steadily since 1922 when the company first announced the policy of manufacturing closed cars of the lowest cost. For the nine months ended August 31, 1925, earnings were equivalent to $12.67 a share compared with $6.41 a share for the entire year 1924 and $2.36 in 1923. Latest reports indicate earnings at the rate of $16.19 per share.

During recent months the ability of the company to establish attractive low prices for its products has been a factor in its success.

The company owns sixty acres of land in Detroit. The buildings are modern and fault and efficiently equipped and have an approximate factory floor space of 1,600,000 square feet. The company produces within its own factories most of the parts used in its cars.

General Dawes Is Too Highly Seasoned

General Dawes appears to be too highly seasoned.

A Vice President should be an Eskimo pie rather than a hot tamale. For him to manifest Vesuvian tendencies is as clearly out of character as for the marble inhabitants of Statuary Hall to explode with the violent animosities of days gone by.

General Dawes is more impatient than usual, if that be possible, over the World Court debate, and in this he violates the precedent of his ancestor who rode with Paul Revere to warn the inhabitants of the coming of the British. If the General ran true to family form, he would now be warning the people that the British have come back to get us into an international mess where they will outnumber us seven to one—more than they outnumbered us in old Massachusetts!

But not only does the General not warn the people; he is not willing that anybody else shall warn them!

As a musician, also, the General violates the rules of tempo. Even if there were no need of this World Court debate, our solemn departure from our nation-old habit of minding our own business calls for a funeral march rather than the syncopated cakewalk which the General would like to see the Senate adopt.

And then General Dawes displayed remarkable lack of discrimination in selecting the objects of his most recent disapproval. He selected two Senators, whose instantaneous replies must have satisfied his craving for action. He selected Senator Reed, of Missouri, and Senator Copeland, of New York.

One can understand how the General might have mistaken a live eagle for a clay pigeon, but one cannot understand how he could have mistaken Senator Reed, of Missouri, for an humble subject of gratuitous reproof. However, he did so, and Senator Reed at once dedicated a clime in the General's honor, and the latter promptly filed an alibi or rather took a change of venue to Senator Copeland.

Whereupon Senator Copeland informed General Dawes that his statements were inaccurate, after which the General apologized to the Senator.

The General's attack upon the Senators was made the previous evening over the radio and, according to report, he administered the most violent chiropractic treatment any microphone ever received. He spoke so violently that his message was hamburgered, only thin slices of it sliding out into the waiting ether. And he struck the desk so hard, it was shattered. Attaches of the broadcasting station aver that no such blows have been struck in our beloved land since the evening Mr. Firpo knocked Mr. Dempsey clear through the ropes.

Physically it was a powerful speech!

And all because American Senators wish to take time to admonish their colleagues to obey the two thundering mandates of the American people to keep this nation out of everything even remotely associated with the League of Nations!

We hope General Dawes will be patient with us. We appeal with complete confidence to his abundant good nature to deal leniently with us in this hour of our international asininity.

What Do R. R.s Owe State?

Or Is the Obligation Entirely One-Sided?

The young man the people of Salem have got into the habit of electing to the mayoralty year after year visited the State House last week to protest before the Public Utility Commissioners against the abandonment of the Essex Branch of the Boston & Maine Railroad and said considerable in a single paragraph.

Here it is:

"This whole question of the discontinuance of side lines is going to have a serious effect upon the County. It is a fine thing to allow public service corporations all over the Commonwealth a large return on their capital investment, but public service corporations should take the lean with the fat."

The railroads are given exclusive rights. For their benefit, and on their appeal, the buses have been driven from the highways all over Eastern Massachusetts. Are the roads to make NO payment for the monopoly they enjoy? Do they owe NOTHING to the less important communities of Massachusetts?

But there is no improving on the way George Bates put it, and up and down the State Mr. Average Citizen will hold with the Mayor of Salem that public service corporations should "take the lean with the fat."

Dwell in Peabody, Own the Electric Lighting Plant, and MAKE IT PAY

One year ago we had the pleasure of reporting here that the manager of the electric lighting system in Peabody had turned $34,000 over to the city treasurer as the profits of the year 1924, in addition to having lighted the streets without charge.

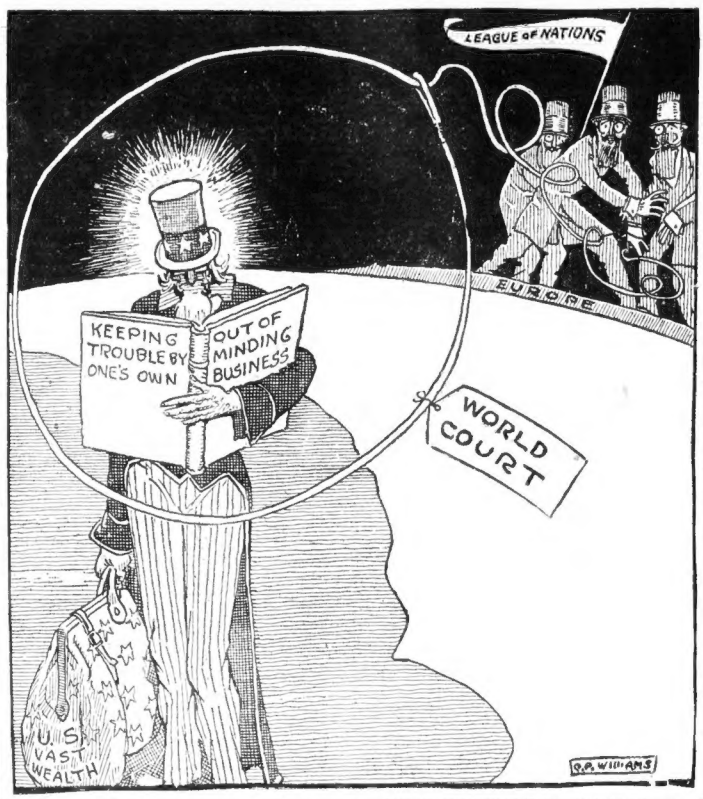
The PEABODY electric lighting plant, you will recall, belongs to the PEOPLE of Peabody.

Another year has passed, and once again the manager of the electric plant has made a payment to the city treasurer, this time of $80,000!

Objection is made by merchants and householders who patronize the Peabody plant that it is unfair to make THEM bear the entire cost of lighting the highways; that with respect to this item of city expense, the non-customer of the plant is "getting a free ride"; that not to credit the plant with an amount equal to the actual cost of street lighting is a mistake.

The important fact, however, and the one we hope you will recall the next time it is broadcast and megaphoned that Wolfganz, Austria, or Three Sticks, Manitoba, is contemplating the abandonment of a publicly owned lighting plant, is that right here in Massachusetts, and not twenty miles from Boston, public ownership is a demonstrated success.

Look Out!



WAKE up, Uncle Sam!

Europe has thrown the rope. It is made up of foolish Americans who yield to the specious arguments for the World Court. They sound like Americans, but they deny the very essence of American faith.

European entanglements were dangerous in Washington's day, when this was a poor and struggling country. They are more dangerous today.

They say we are nearer Europe—with the steamship and the cable and wireless. Yes, we are nearer European intrigue.

That intrigue speaks through the World Court, despite its sonorous name. It is the court of the League of EUROPEAN Nations.

It casts not for the poor and struggling country of Washington's day. It casts for the rich America of 1926, to which it owes money, which it dislikes.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

A MIDDLE western city claims to have the most up to date police department in the world. They even have reserved seats in the patrol wagon.

PEOPLE who are arrested in raids no longer have to stand up on the way to jail.

IF there's no vacancy in the first patrol wagon they wait for the next one.

ONE guy waited four hours trying to get a seat near the window.

HE wanted to pass his house and call his wife so that she'd know where he was.

HE wanted her to know he was in jail so that she wouldn't worry about him.

THE cops in this town are very polite. They never hit you over the head with their club without giving you a chance to take your hat off.

LISTEN, WORLD!

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Elsie Robinson

ARE families conversation? Can you talk about 'em free and noisy, just the way you would about prohibition or petting parties or Aunt Etta's want or what a crab the boss is?

Or may you only mention them in whispers after bowing three times to the West and burning a hair from the tail of a cross-eyed cat?

The latter would seem to be the accepted mode in our richer circles, if President Campbell's recent decision is to be taken as law.

President Campbell is at the head of the University of California. There are quite a number of young women in that university who will presently become wives and mothers. Naturally they have large ideas about the importance of the job and are determined to improve on mama's and grandma's technique. So they planned a public debate with the girls of Stanford on the subject, "Resolved, that the family is not necessary for the progress of civilization."

Whereupon President Campbell placed a damper on the festivities by ruling that such a subject was not a fit subject for public discussion and forbade the argument.

Now, we're willing to agree that we personally know a lot of families that aren't fit subjects for public discussion, but why pick on them?

These young ladies were not about to advocate free love, divorce, birth control, polygamy, polyandry or any other improper propaganda.

In short, they were going to discuss any possible change or modification which might enable men and women to work together and raise their children with greater fairness, honesty and kindliness. Which is something the present family lineup often fails far short of doing. But which might possibly be accomplished by some other argument.

That's what the co-eds of Berkeley and Stanford were going to debate and that is what President Campbell declares to be an unfit matter for public discussion.

If so, what in time is a fit matter for public discussion?

Is there any institution that is at present in greater confusion than the institution of the family? There is not. Is there any problem that is a greater menace to our national well-being than this problem of the broken home? There is not. Then in the name of all that's decent, sane and urgent, why not discuss families?

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By Helen Rowland

A MARRIED man's hardest cross is not to be able to brag to his wife about what a "sheik" he could be around the office, if he cared to.

Helen Rowland

When an old-fashioned woman looks at the hair-less, corset-less, carefree girl of today, she doesn't know whether to say "Alas!" or "Hurrah!"

* * *

No matter how thin a woman's patience may be worn, a man is always as surprised when it gives out, as he is when a good, old reliable bath-towel suddenly goes to rags.

* * *

Somehow, it is so hard for "dancing mothers" to realize that, even in a dapper skirt, a hundred and fifty pounds CAN'T be as "cute" as ninety pounds.

READING BIOGRAPHY MOST PROFITABLE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE most profitable kind of reading in the world for young people is biography.

The life story of a great man helps the reader to understand himself.

Your own life is so close to you that little details assume undue importance. Looking at your own life is often like looking down at the road at your feet to see the characteristics of the region you are inhabiting.

Seeing another man's life unfold before you in small compass is like looking at a map of the region.

The really important stands out.

As the scale of miles increases the insignificant disappears.

The sweeping glance of another life helps you see more clearly what is important and what is unimportant, what essential and what is non-essential in your own life.

Biography is the food of ambition. The struggles and victories of actual men stir us to activity in a way that the exploits of fictitious characters cannot do.

Biography aids us to see life more clearly.

Life which seems immensely complex as we live it from day to day becomes remarkably simple as we view it from the clarifying perspective of biography. The twisting by-paths blend into a given direction. The fugue sinks into its essential melody.

Because of its democratic spirit, its opportunity for achievement, its vastness of enterprise, and the idealism of its people, few countries present a more inspiring gallery of great biographies than America.

To understand the rock-ribbed virtues upon which greatness of America has been built read the biographies of some of its great men.

To see in real life exemplifications of the three fundamental virtues of honesty, courage, and humility, read the lives of Benjamin Franklin, George Washington, and Abraham Lincoln.

If you are suffering from ill health read the life of Robert Louis Stevenson, or the inspiring story of Charles P. Steinmetz, the penniless and crippled immigrant who became one of the world's greatest electrical engineers.

Biographical literature is real. It touches life. It is more thrilling than fiction, more helpful than lectures.

If you are a young man or woman, by all means read biography.

HUMANITY'S GREAT OCEAN BRIDGE

By Garrett P. Serviss

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

THERE has been some curious news from Alaska this Winter which has a suggestive connection with the belief of many anthropologists, archaeologists and geologists, that America got its oldest inhabitants from Asia by way of the "Bering Sea Bridge."

A word about this "bridge" will show the relation of the recent news to the problem of the original peopling of our continent. The best way to see the facts is to look at a globe, but since few will take that trouble, while it is important that every intelligent person should know at least the gist of this subject, a little sketch map is herewith presented, to cover the ground.

Close Together.

Nowhere on the whole face of the earth do two great continents approach so close without actually touching as at Bering Strait, where America and Asia reach out rocky fingers whose points are within only fifty-six miles of one another. Some of the big guns used in the World War could easily throw a shot across.

And in the middle of this strait there are two little islands, the Diomede Islands, inhabited by a few Eskimos, who, from the midst of continual fog and ice, actually keep up a modest traffic between the two worlds—the "Old" and the "New."

Now, the "bridge" in question was not exactly at that point—at least the only bridge was not there—but a thousand miles farther south, where you see the remarkable necklace of islands which now extends all across the northern end of the Pacific Ocean from Alaska to Siberia, and which are called the Aleutians.

In former times, perhaps about the time of the last glacial period, it is supposed that the bottom of the sea here was elevated so much higher than it is today that a continuous bridge of land stretched between the continents, and remained there long enough for human beings from Asia to wander across, led by curiosity, by the wandering instinct.

Now this bridge is not supposed to have formed a permanent feature of the earth's surface in that period of the globe. Its existence was a consequence of the restlessness of the earth's crust caused by the strains of all sorts to which it is subjected because of the yet unsettled state of its interior.

The most convincing evidence that things are not yet settled inside the globe is furnished by the phenomena of volcanoes and earthquakes. And the chain of the Aleutian Islands is one of the earth's most frequently and violently disturbed regions.

Recently some of the half-submerged volcanoes in that neighborhood have awakened, and the very curious statement is made that an apparent consequence of this awakening of the internal fires is that the present winter has been surprisingly mild during its opening stages, and that great fields of grass are flourishing where in normal circumstances the ground would be frozen and snow-buried.

Heat Increases

It is affirmed that the bottom of the sea seems to have been heated to such a degree by the internal fires that warm currents have been to melt some of the projecting ice masses along the coast.

If this be true, and if the effect should continue to manifest itself, an explanation would be suggested for the former existence of a tropical climate in the polar regions.

That there was once such a climate seems to be beyond question, but no satisfactory explanation of it has hitherto been found. If it could have been due to heating of the northern sea waters by the internal fires then some support would be lent to the human bridge hypothesis, for the bridge would be far more likely to serve the purposes ascribed to it if climate of the lands that it connected was mild and settled enough to favor not only a fairly dense population, but also the existence of sufficient vegetation to nourish both men and animals.

MAN SHOULD CARVE HIS OWN WAY TO FORTUNE

At times you are filled with envy because you cannot engage in sports and pastimes that some of your friends and acquaintances do.

Instead of realizing that a man should and can carve his own career, you wish you had been "born with a silver spoon in your mouth."

Now isn't that vain imagining?

Would you respect yourself if everything were provided for you and you did not have to work to get on in the world?

You would get mighty soft and weak if life were too easy.

You even carry the thought so far that every time you hear of a man marrying a rich girl you sigh and wonder how it would seem to be able to look forward to life as the adored husband of an heiress.

If you knew a few such cases personally you would not envy.

You would be ashamed to want support without earning it.

Many a man who has thought it so lucky that his wife has money has found that that fact has not meant a thing to him so far as handling any of it was concerned.

Women nowadays can handle their own fortunes without assistance from fortune hunters.

"You Said It, Marceline!"

By MARCELINE D'ALROY

ON "MEN'S LEGS"

IT SEEMS GIRLS' LEGS
ARE GOOD COPY;
But USUALLY they are Written of UNDER the Title of "short skirts."
But, possibly, since
All has BEEN SEEN,
ALL HAS BEEN SAID,
Therefore let us not bother
About the OBVIOUS.
Let's talk about MEN'S LEGS INSTEAD! For although
They are not so widely
ADVERTISED, every man
Has a couple and
MEN'S LEGS are very SUBTLE.

ALL you can tell about
A BUSINESS MAN'S LEGS
Is if they are STRAIGHT.
The REST, whether they Are BONY, SKINNY,
Hairy or BEAUTIFUL,
Is HIS secret until, maybe,
He takes a girl in Swimming.
YET MEN, TOO, are often
DISAPPOINTING.
Their LEGS may be all right
But some of the BEST
Men have FLAT FEET, and Others are PIGEON-TOED.
It's a hard life!
